

HASHIT

Run No: 1670

Hare: Furballs

Where: "Tracton", Downside

When: 3 September 2007

It was rather a chilly evening when we set off at Tracton with the walkers getting a head start down the paddock, dodging landmines all the way. The runners quickly caught up though, and there was a mad scatter at the first check with several hashers scrambling over the gate like idiots. Fortunately Hooka was in her right mind and calmly tried the latch, opening the gate and letting the rest of us through.

It seems everyone was trying to outdo each other to get themselves a free down down this week, with Dude not seeing a fence until he almost ran into it, and Denco leaving quite a bit of his tracky dacks hanging from the barbed wire. Again Hooka impressively kept calm and found a piece of fence with no barbed wire and got over unscathed. The Brute and virgin hasher Craig were running rather late but still managed to get back home before Twiggy and Fuzz.

Back at the fire bucket Gomer discovered the DHOTW trophy, resplendent in a new coat of paint, nestled amongst the eskys. I'm still not sure what the blue balls are about but I guess it has been cold. With still no sign of Twiggy and Fuzz there was some talk about a search party but the general consensus was that with beer and food at hand why bother. Eventually they turned up, courtesy of Furball's brother, having found them wandering along in the dark, their torch gone out, after finding On Home and going the wrong way.

It was a bit concerning how taken Furballs was with the paint job on the DH trophy. He could not stop touching it and commenting how sticky it was, but it was for admitting it was his birthday that he finally got a down down. Also receiving a down down was virgin hasher Craig who impressed us all with his ability first time. But naturally it was Twiggy and Fuzz who took this week's DHOTW honours between them.

Up Cumming Runs/Events

| | | | |
|------|-----------|---------------|-------------------------|
| 1671 | 10/9/2007 | Fuzz | Wagga Wagga Beach |
| 1672 | 17/9/2007 | The Committee | William Farrer Hotel |
| 1673 | 24/9/2007 | Camouflage | 288 Bourke Street |
| 1674 | 1/10/2007 | Taxi | 54 Pugsley Ave, Estella |

- LAKE TO LAGOON FUN RUN
Sunday September 9th 2007
Starting 10:20am Apex Park Lake Albert
- Beechworth Wine Tour - 21st to 23rd September.
They have secured an additional 30 beds in 4 cottages in the same grounds as the venue (about 200m away) if anyone still wants to register.
- Tour de Pisse - 26th to 28th October.

Hash Trash

Psychopath test

Read this question, come up with an answer and then read down to the bottom of the newsletter for the result. This is not a trick question. It is as it reads.

A friend of mine got it in seconds, but she is pretty scary. I had no idea.

A woman, while at the funeral of her own mother, met a guy whom she did not know. She thought this guy was amazing. She believed him to be her dream guy so much, that she fell in love with him right there, but never asked for his number and could not find him. A few days later she killed her sister.

Question: What is her motive for killing her sister?

[Give this some thought before you answer, see answer below]

Bizarre News Story of the Week

Four-letter word has teacher in sin-bin

Sydney Morning Herald: September 5, 2007

IT IS a simple question: who leads this country? Any John, Dick or Kevin could answer it, but one citizenship teacher may be wishing she had refrained.

One student, Erez Sharabani, shot up his hand to answer "Mr John Howard". But before he could get the words out, he says, the teacher wrote "dick" across the middle of the board. She rubbed it out, but not before the 12 students in her citizenship class at the NSW Adult Migrant English Service at Surry Hills saw it.

Calling the Prime Minister a four-letter word in a class funded by the federal Department of Immigration and Citizenship has not proved a great career move, sparking a complaint from Mr Sharabani and an investigation by the NSW Department of Education. The teacher, who has not been named, has been suspended on pay pending the outcome of the investigation.

The leadership question was one of 10 the teacher wrote on the board to help students prepare for the new compulsory citizenship test. Mr Sharabani became a citizen in 2005 but attends the class as part of a broader English-language skills program. He is passionate about his new country, describing it as "a very exciting time to get citizenship of an amazing country". Mr Sharabani, 40, of Bondi Beach, who came to Australia from Israel in 2000, walked out before the class ended, and says he was deeply disturbed by the disrespect. That night he fired off emails to the Prime Minister; the Immigration Minister, Kevin Andrews; the NSW Board of Studies and the head of the English Service. Referring to the "dick" incident, he wrote: "This is not acceptable. This lesson is meant to encourage newly arrived Australians to be able to connect with their new country." He said Mr Andrews's spokeswoman rang him yesterday and said the minister took the situation very seriously.

Mark Davis, a spokesman for the Education Department, said the department's policy was to keep politics out of the classroom. The manager of AMES Surry Hills, Tith Tiru, said she had sought comment from the other students but could not comment while the review was under way.

~

Answer to test:

She was hoping the guy would appear at the funeral again. If you answered this correctly, you think like a psychopath. This was a test by a famous American Psychologist used to test if one has the same mentality as a killer.

Many arrested serial killers took part in the test and answered the question correctly.

If you didn't answer the question correctly, good for you.

If you got the answer correct, please let me know so I can take you off my email list...